SINGAPORE, 15 JANUARY 2020 — For the second consecutive year, Niometrics has been identified by The Straits Times and Statista as a leading high-growth company in Singapore.

Beyond achieving a high place in the overall ranking, and securing, again, a place within the Top 10 "Growth Champions" in the tech category, Niometrics is among the Top 10 companies in Singapore that managed to stay within the ranking for the second year in a row.

Commenting on the achievement, Kostas Anagnostakis, Niometrics' founder and CEO, said:

"We are proud of being recognised by the Straits Times and Statista as a fast-growth company for the second consecutive year, especially in a country like Singapore, which has been named as the most competitive economy in the world according to the 2019 Global Competitiveness Report from the World Economic Forum (WEF).

The consistency in our results is made possible by our strong commitment to client impact, as we advance technologies and solutions that spur real value creation with robust privacy protection.

And, as telcos across the world realise that network analytics is key to uplift themselves from passive observers to active agents of the digital pursuits they help to fulfil, our growth shows no signs of slowing down.

This recognition reasserts our advancements. This is both an honour and encouragement to us, and reinforces our conviction that we need to keep pushing data exploration forward."
